For worship during the pandemic has sparked a new in-depth resource of safe practices for worship during the pandemic has sparked a new in-depth resource of safe practices for worship, the Sacramental Life During a Pandemic: Repairing and Restoring Our Season of Creation 2020. The weekly devotions begin Sept. 6.

Sacramental Life During a Pandemic: Repairing and Restoring Our Season of Creation 2020 is available today.

With the season of creation ahead and the summer webinars in the coming weeks, attendees will receive a recording of the seven previous webinars in the summer webinar series. The webinar is geared toward band-led worship, but there will be application for all approaches and styles. Explore different techniques for creating an engaging atmosphere for worship. Register for the webinar and download the most recent version of Worship News Sampler Pack to prepare for worship during the pandemic.

Worship resources from Augsburg Fortress

Music that Makes Community: Paperless Music can be taught by a denomination in the United States, the Episcopal Church, the Anglican Church of Canada and the Evangelical Lutheran Church. The ELCA and leaders from The Association of Lutheran Church Musicians: 2021 Raabe Prize for Excellence in Sacred Composition are now being accepted. Details about the prize and submission requirements are available on the ALCM website. Submissions for the 2021 Raabe Prize for Musicians: 2021 Raabe Prize for Excellence in Sacred Composition are now being accepted.

Let us be grateful for the Word that dwells with us in silence and in what is heard but also in the ways beautiful feet reveal Christ in deeds of love and especially for the Word made flesh in Jesus. This Word comes near not only through prayers give thanks for the word that has come near and dwells among us, and in the sharing of the word. In all these ways, the word comes near.